

Exercise Seven – Plot bits from the Universe

In this exercise, while planning your book, you may come across hilarious photos, weird fortune cookie messages, or oddball business cards that you've not quite sure how to use in your book.

Create a folder where you can start collecting your plot bits from the universe.

Save your discoveries in this folder for a rainy day when you're out of writing fuel and need a little inspiration.

